Vote Recount in Eight States Being Studied

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican "trouble-shooters" are being sent into eight states to take a "close, hard look" at the presidential election results and decide whether recounts could change those results.

The decision was taken Friday at a meeting of three of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's top echelon campaign strategists, Leonard W. Hall, Robert H. Finch and Fred C. Scribner. Finch emphasized that Nixon himself had no part in the plan and hadn't been consulted.

Republican party representatives are being sent to Illinois, Texas, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada, South Carolina, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Lou Guyler, spokesman for the Republican National Committee, said an estimated 25,000 complaints claiming voting irregularities have been received, many urging recounts.

He said the party agents will check these complaints and try to determine whether a recount in those states might turn Republican defeat into belated victory for Nixon.

As it stands now, with vote counts still trickling in there and there, Democratic John F. Kennedy still has assurance of 300 electoral votes, 31 more than the minimum for election.

Kennedy's nationwide popular vote still maintained a tiny margin over Nixon's. The totals:

Kennedy—33,095,48
Nixon—33,710,073

This gave Kennedy an edge of 145,395 out of the more than 7½ million votes cast for the major party candidates.

This was how the Kennedy pluralities stood in the eight states to get close GOP security (electoral vote given in parentheses): Illinois (27)—9,359; New Jersey (1)—21,800; Texas (24)—45,241; Missouri (13)—9,299; New Mexico (4)—2,477; Nevada (3)—2,379; South Carolina (8)—8,139; and Pennsylvania (32)—180,158.

A week ago Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton asked local GOP organizations in 11 states to look into report of irregularities.

Morton was not associated with the announcement after the meeting of Hall, Finch and Scribner. Hall was Nixon's campaign manager; Finch and Scribner were top aides in Nixon's campaign organization.

Navy Ships Already in Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy ships in the Caribbean are now in position and prepared to assist Guatemala and Nicaragua in repelling any invaders, the Navy said today.

A spokesman emphasized that at this time the Navy has no plans to do more than patrol the area unless there is a specific request for action from either or both of the countries.

This reflected the position outlined by State Department officials Thursday night. It was reiterated today in response to inquiries about a report published in England that the U. S. naval force is authorized to board suspected vessels in the Caribbean.

The State Department made clear that no action is contemplated beyond the three-mile territorial waters, and even then only upon specific request of the countries.

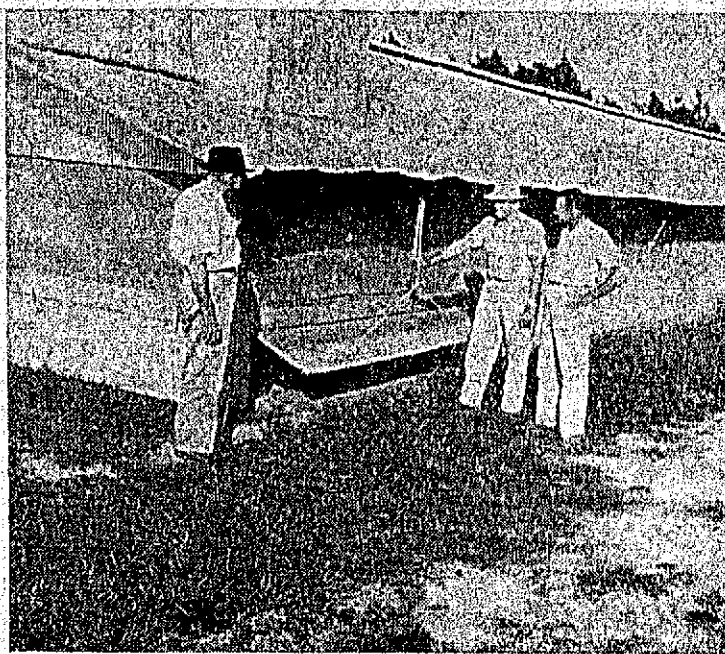

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter refused to comment on how long it may be necessary to maintain the special patrol.

Questioned by newsmen as he returned from Boston, Herter would say only that U. S. action was taken at the request of the governments affected and that no country was mentioned specifically as the source of any Communist-directed threat to Nicaragua and Guatemala.

At Navy headquarters it was said that if one of the ships or planes in the patrolling force should sight a suspected invasion vessel in international waters it would immediately report the fact.

This report would go to Adm. Robert Bell Dempsey, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, for relay to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other officials at Washington and thus to the two concerned countries.

All Electric Chicken House

Says Farm Problem Not Understood

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If the non-farming public understood farm problems, it would support proper remedies.

That view was offered Thursday by Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., who urged a public relations job by agriculture. Whitten spoke to the Arkansas Association of Soil Conservation Districts. He is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee for Agriculture.

Whitten said that farm income has dropped, while that of labor and industry has risen.

Ghana Group Ordered Out by Mobutu

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu today ordered Ghana Charge d'Affaires Nathaniel Welbeck and his entire staff to leave the Congo by Monday.

Welbeck has openly acted as political adviser to ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba since the beginning of the Congo crisis.

This expulsion would represent a major victory for the pro-Western Mobutu regime.

Indian Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, acting head of the U. S. mission, said the United Nations would not prevent Welbeck's expulsion because he has been declared persona non grata by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The action came as the United Nations dispatched reinforcements to cope with tribal warfare in North Katanga. The U. N. Congo Command announced an Eritrean army patrol had stumbled onto the mutilated bodies of 20 Congolese tribesmen in the bush.

Swiss Purchase Cuban Tobacco

HAVANA (AP) — The semi-official paper Revolution announced today Cuba has sold more than $10 million worth of tobacco to Enemco, a Swiss firm. The tobacco will go to Middle East markets and will be paid for in dollars, the paper said.

Revolution added that Enemco offered to supply Cuba any merchandise, raw material or industrial products without demanding payment in dollars.

"Now Swiss businessmen are those who, in the face of the United States' imperialist blockade, increase their commercial exchange with Cuba, opening new markets and wider horizons for our products," the newspaper said.

Jaycees in Appeal for Public's Help

Hope Jaycees, business, organizations and citizens are trying to raise funds to send Jon Barborotto's Hope High School band to the Cotton Ball Jan. 1.

The Hope band is one of the two in Arkansas invited. The only way the city and the band will be recognized is to be there. The only way it has to attend is for this city to raise the funds.

The cost is $25 per student and enough contributions have been sent in to send 23 band members.

Hope Jaycees are more than doing their part. Another Turkey Shoot is planned for this weekend at Fair park. The shoots start at 1:30 p.m. and all the money raised goes for the band trip. The public is asked to help, either by contributing money or supporting similar benefits for that purpose.

On return to Washington next Wednesday evening, Kennedy will meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany for a discussion of unemployment problems. Kennedy will be going back to the capital to spend Thanksgiving Day with his wife—expecting a second child next month—and their small daughter.

2500 Foreign Doctors Flunk U. S. Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the State Department and of top American medical groups discussed today a ticklish situation arising because nearly 2,500 foreign doctors recently flunked a qualification examination in this country and face possible deportation.

A spokesman said the State Department is concerned about possible adverse effects on this country's foreign relations from any such large-scale withdrawal of visas.

On the other hand it was learned that hospitals where these foreign doctors are now working as internes or residents face possible loss of their approved intern and residency programs which ordinarily allow them to attract highly qualified doctors to their staffs. The American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association jointly control approval of such programs.

Informed sources said that of 8,713 foreign doctors who took an examination 3,775 passed with an average grade of 75 percent or better.

Another 2,450 achieved grades between 70 and 75 percent and were given a two-year extension. However, all must eventually take a make-up examination and pass.

There were 2,481 failures.

Kennedy May Streamline Defense Dept.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today tackles a study of the Defense Department looking toward streamlining he says it needs for this nuclear age.

For the study, to continue over the weekend, the Democratic winner called in Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Md., secretary of the Air Force, in the Truman administration and mentioned frequently as a possible Kennedy choice for secretary of defense.

At Kennedy's request, Symington has been charting Defense Department reorganization for some time and now is ready to make recommendations for the program, the new administration will send to Congress shortly after Jan. 20.

During the campaign Kennedy said that as president he would seek increased efficiency in the Pentagon setup and aim at economies in administration of the huge defense program.

On the other hand, Kennedy also is on record as favoring a 2½ to 3 billion-dollar hike in spending to bolster the nation's military might.

The session with Symington on revamping of the Defense Department comes against the background of a lengthy briefing Kennedy got Friday on the situation in the Caribbean area. There, on orders from President Eisenhower, American warships and planes are on guard to prevent any Communist-led attack on Guatemala and Nicaragua. These revolt-threatening Central American republics asked for U. S. help after accusing Cuba's Fidel Castro regime of aiding the rebels.

The president-elect spent 2½ hours and 40 minutes with Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, and his deputy Richard Bissell. Kennedy had requested the briefing, classified as top secret.

Neither Kennedy nor Dulles had any comment for newsmen after the meeting. Donald M. Wilson, the president-elect's acting press secretary, was asked whether Kennedy supports Eisenhower's action ordering U. S. naval units into the Caribbean on the anti-Communist mission. Wilson said:

"On that question as well as all such others, we are going to have no comment. Sen. Kennedy feels it would be improper for him to discuss actions or policies of the United States government at this time because he has no responsibility (for them) until he assumes office after Inauguration Day."

On return to Washington next Wednesday evening, Kennedy will meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany for a discussion of unemployment problems. Kennedy will be going back to the capital to spend Thanksgiving Day with his wife—expecting a second child next month—and their small daughter.

Greene Named to $10,800 Year Job

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today named John H. Greene, a Little Rock insurance man, to a $10,800-a-year post on the Arkansas Commerce Commission.

Greene fills a vacancy created when Arnold Sikes resigned Nov. 1 to return to his old job as administrative assistant to Faubus. Sikes was on the Commerce Commission about two years.

Greene, 69, has operated an insurance brokerage business in Little Rock since 1924.

Not regarded as a member of the Faubus administration, Greene described his political affiliation as "a warm, loyal supporter of the governor, but never out front."

Personal Incomes Hit a Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income of Americans climbed to a record annual rate of $409.8 billion in October.

The total was $800 million higher than the annual rate of September and was $25 billion above the annual rate of October last year.

The Commerce Department, in announcing the figures Thursday, said a dip in the total wages paid factory workers in October was more than offset by small gains in pay for government, construction and retail employees. Farm income dipped slightly during the month. Income of business proprietors and professional men improved slightly.

Reports a Change in UA Personnel

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Democrat today said there is speculation that Dr. Point Richardson of Fayetteville may succeed Dr. T. Douglas Lawson if the latter gives up his job of provost for medical affairs at the University of Arkansas Medical Center here.

Dr. Lawson confirmed Thursday that he was "considering other offers."

Dr. Richardson, who is director of student health services at the university's Fayetteville campus, today declined comment on the speculation.

Cuba Blasts Directed at Eisenhower

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro regime's latest anti-American blasts appear directed specifically against "the government of President Eisenhower"—as though leaving the door unlocked for possible negotiations with President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Observers, in pointing this out, cite various examples of the trend since the Democratic senator defeated Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the U. S. election.

Several Latin-American diplomats say at least one segment of the Cuban government is anxious to talk things over with Kennedy or his representatives.

Government-controlled newspapers recently began substituting "the American government," as though trying to differentiate between "Eisenhower Americans" and other Americans.

The Republican party as represented by Eisenhower is regarded here, traditionally, as more reactionary than the Democratic party. Castro propagandists often call the Republicans the representatives of American monopolies.

Yet Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his supporters strongly attacked Kennedy both during his campaign and immediately after he won the election. Some derogative epithets applied to him were "rich illiterate" and "stupid."

"The economic situation is beginning to pinch and some of the more intelligent members of the government are looking around for help," said one Latin-American ambassador.

"They are about convinced that the help Khrushchev is willing to give will be too little too late."

There has been as yet no open Cuban move toward seeking an understanding with Kennedy or his associates. But some diplomatic sources here say they know hints have been dropped.

These sources see the new press campaign to heap anti-American criticism upon "Eisenhower Americans" as one such step.

An English-speaking policeman in Havana typified that kind of thinking when he asked two American correspondents where they are from.

"We are Yankees," the two replied.

"Don't use that word" said the policeman. "That's reserved for Eisenhower Americans."

Nixon in 1964 Rally Is Held

NEW LONDON, Wis. (AP) — The first — at least for Wisconsin — "Nixon for President in 1964" rally was held here Thursday.

Richard Zuege organized the rally in payment of a $5 bet he would win a wheelbarrow ride to Del Beno. Zuege supported Sen. John F. Kennedy in the presidential election and Zuege was for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

When Beno arrived to collect on the bet, Zuege was waiting with the wheelbarrow and the $5-plus in pay for government, construction and retail employees. Farm income dipped slightly during the month. Income of business proprietors and professional men improved slightly.

Thanksgiving Not Always Official But It Has Always Been Sincere to Mankind

By MARY ANITA LASETER

With Thanksgiving only a few days away we are reminded that what is known as Harvest Time is certainly here. This season, like the other three, has been with us as far back as man can remember.

Mythology tells how Romulus founded a Priesthood of 12 foster brothers to offer prayers and sacrifices for the harvest. This work was considered so important that when one died, the King himself assumed the reverent task.

The fiery, restless Greeks were said to be unmanageable when hungry. The wise government quickly controlled them, punishing by death those that destroyed their neighbors' corn. This government appointed a special magistrate whose duty it was to inspect all grain before it was sold.

The first Food Administrator in history was appointed by Julius Caesar to distribute grain. He was called the Government Distributor. Nero, it is said, gave corn to all the poor throughout his whole domain to win their favor.

Legends abound in reference to grains. One of the more ancient legends tells how Ceres, the Goddess of Grain, herself taught the making of mush from corn. Another tells how the nymph Egeria, in 1715 B.C., taught King Numa how to parch corn. It became thoughtful and invented a mortar and pestle to grind the grain to flour.

Experimenting in the Royal Kitchen a little further, the King finally made bread which he baked in the ashes of a sacred fire. Like a good business man, he organized a series of shops to bake bread according to his formula, and to insure its sale he invoked the protection of a New Goddess — created to fit the occasion!

The origin of cereals is shrouded in mystery. The word "corn" sometimes was used to designate all grains. We know the Greeks wrought implements to "shell" corn, that corn kernels have been found in tombs of old Peru, and that the Chinese immortalized corn in picture form.

As for this grain in the time of the settling of the Pilgrims, corn meant life itself. It was often the only food, sold at 10 shillings (about $1.40) a bushel, and Indians stole the meager crops. Sometimes the supply was so low that a ration was only five kernels a day.

On long hunting trips pouches of parched corn furnished the principal food. To prepare this, Indian Corn was dried in hot ashes which were then lifted out. The corn was ground to powder and packed into long leather bags. The ration was three spoonfuls a day mixed with snow or water, according to the season. Roger Williams said that this crude food made the Indians able to carry loads "fitter for elephants than men."

Colonial dames created such delicacies as dumplings of corn, as well as Indian puddings, Pones or "Injun Bread" and "Sukquahatchash." "Roasting Ears," the Red man's favorite food, were also much loved by the settlers, and though popped corn was a "daytime" it often formed the whole meal.

Wonderful women they must have been, those housewives of early days, feeding their families on little else than corn. No wonder they were grateful to God for a bountiful harvest and sang praises to Him. Even to people of ancient times corn was a grain that was a sacred necessity.

Thanksgiving has not always been "official," but it has been a sincere observation of mankind since the beginning of recorded time.

May Replace Hospital Buildings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Hospital Board of Control may decide at a meeting this afternoon to seek replacement of most of the buildings in the Little Rock unit.

Some of the old structures date back into the 1800s and have long been considered fire hazards.

Gordon Wittenberg, a Little Rock architect, has drawn preliminary plans to discuss with the board.

The board met this morning but deferred consideration of the replacement project until later in the day because Chairman Olen Hendrix of Antoine hadn't arrived.

At one time Hendrix said that $20 million would be needed for the proposed replacement.

Other members said today that figures included a lot of long range planning and that buildings needed at once could be constructed for much less.

Buildings erected recently on the hospital grounds would not be affected.

Dormitories included in the tentative replacement plans have a total of 1,218 beds.

Natives Besiege Kantanga Town

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Thousands of Baluba tribesmen besieged the tiny southern Katanga town of Luena — barely 150 miles from Elisabethville — today.

Inside the town were 12 whites and about 200 Negroes protected by United Nations Moroccan soldiers.

Most of the original 700 population of Luena a coal mining and railroad town had already fled to Elisabethville the provincial capital.

The last refuge train pulled in late Thursday night.

State of Siege in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — State of siege—modified martial law—was declared throughout the nation today, following disturbances reported Thursday from Cochabamba. Political and labor meetings were prohibited.

Few details of the disturbances were available but about 100 persons were reported killed in that area last Monday when peasants opposed to President Victor Paz Estenssoro clashed with police, troops and other persons.

ALC Delays Action on AM&N Head

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Lawrence A. Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College, today told the Legislative Joint Committee he will take whatever steps are necessary to clean up fiscal irregularities if he remains as head of the Pine Bluff Negro school.

The committee had a long discussion over whether it should give Davis a clean bill of health but finally decided to do nothing other than send an audit report to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Rep. William L. Ward of Lee County urged that the committee adopt a motion absolving Davis of any blame but Chairman Fred Stafford of Marked Tree said this was not the committee's duty.

Auditor Orvel Johnson told the committee that J. M. Cleathman, custodian of the Agricultural Scholarship Fund, had paid $4,400 into school funds.

Armed Men Patrol Logan Airport

BOSTON (AP) — Men armed with shotguns patrolled Logan International Airport today in an effort to keep birds from runways.

Four times in the last month planes, landing or taking off, ran into birds.

Only Thursday an Eastern Airlines plane ran into birds as it traveled the runway to take off. The pilot cut the motors and turned the craft back to the hangar.

An EAL Electra crashed on takeoff Oct. 4 killing 62 of 72 aboard. Examination of the craft showed the jet engines had ingested starlings.

Today the patrols dispersed a small flock of starlings a few sandpipers — the kind of birds the plane struck Thursday — a few gulls and one white owl.

Reds Building Huge Arsenal Inside Cuba

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials picture Cuba today as building up a huge arsenal of Soviet bloc military weapons to arm revolutionary movements throughout the Caribbean area.

The State Department announced Friday night that according to the government of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has already imported 20,000 tons of arms from the Soviet bloc, including tanks, guns and eight MG jet fighters. The department said shipments also included about 6,000 tons of assorted ammunition in addition to almost 46 million rounds of rifle, machinegun and artillery ammunition previously obtained by Castro from non-Communist sources.

According to the department's figures, Castro has received a total of 9,000 automatic rifles, including 4,000 from Communist Czechoslovakia; 10,000 submachineguns; a variety of heavier weapons and 10 Soviet helicopters.

The State Department said Castro now has the largest army in Latin America. This militia was put at 200,000 persons and officials estimated that his regular army totals 40,000.

The Soviet Union and Red China are cooperating in the supply of arms to Castro, the State Department said, because they apparently desire to contribute to Caribbean tensions by burdening the Cuban economy with excessive arms purchases and by supporting the aggressive policies of the Cuban prime minister.

Washington officials expressed the hope that disclosures of the Cuban arms information, evidently obtained from intelligence sources, would alert other nations throughout the hemisphere to the dangers of serious Communist-directed trouble making by Castro which are foreseen here.

Privately officials put their fears in blunter terms. The Communist powers, they said, are clearly using Cuba as a base for accumulating arms with which to supply revolutionary movements whenever there is an opportunity to stir up serious trouble.

President Eisenhower has deployed U. S. warships to patrol the Caribbean coast of Central America, acting at the request of Guatemala and Nicaragua. Those countries crushed small forces of revolutionary invaders earlier this week and alleged Cuban support for the operations.

Neighboring Costa Rica said Friday night documents had been found on a Nicaraguan opposition leader linking the Nicaraguan revolt with Castro and international communism.

President Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala declared that he favored a Korean type police action against Cuba by the Organization of American States.

Congo Issue to Be Taken Up by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly decided today to plunge immediately into a debate on the seating of a Congo delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu. The decision was a defeat for the Soviet bloc and an African group led by Ghana.

The vote was on a motion by Ghana to adjourn the debate until after a U. N. conciliation commission had a chance to seek a settlement of the Congo conflict. The motion was defeated by a vote of 3 in favor, 51 against and 41 abstentions.

The assembly president Fredrick H. Boland of Ireland, announced that the debate would begin immediately after the lunch recess.

This was the second time that a postponement of the Congo seating had been moved. The assembly voted last week to adjourn its debate indefinitely.

Missionary End Long China Stay

NEW YORK (AP)—A Lutheran missionary's long stay in Red China "to find out what it's all about" is over.

The Rev. Paul J. Mackensen Jr., 35, was home today after 12 years behind the Bamboo Curtain, part of the time in prison, and recently by his own choice.

"I'm glad to be back," he said. He arrived Thursday night on the U.S. Lines freighter Pioneer Minx, and was met by a sister and brother-in-law, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Good of Spinnerstown Pa.

"Sorry to keep you waiting so long," he told them with a smile. They left with him by car for Spinnerstown, where his parents awaited him.

He was tanned, appeared in good health, and wore a brown tweed suit, and brown shoes.

"I got them in China," he said, when asked about the well-made clothing.

"A certain amount of education," Mackensen when freed from prison in 1957, elected to remain in China, saying he had received while in prison, and "learned something of the program for social changes taking place."

"Now I'd like to study what is going on," he said. "Whether I agree or not is up to me." He was teaching English at the Shanghai Institute of Foreign Languages.

As he departed he was affable and gracious but reticent about his China years.

Asked if he planned to go back he said: "I've been away a long time. I intend to stay here for a long time."

He indicated he had returned because he wanted to see his elderly parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul J. Mackensen Sr., of Baltimore.

Mackensen, a pastor of The American Lutheran Church, went to Tsingtao, China, as a missionary for the United Lutheran Church in 1949 after a year of studying Chinese at Yale University.

ment in a Bible college," Skinner said, "but I knew that I'd never get around the world unless I went now."

The slender, 140-pounder is carrying an 85-pound pack in which he has everything needed for living out of doors. He spends most of his nights in the open to save money.

His itinerary calls for visits to New York, Canada, the American West Coast, Central and South America, Australia, the Middle East and Europe. He expects to be back in England by Christmas of next year.

Chrysler to Discontinue DeSoto Line

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. will announce the end of production for its DeSoto automobiles some time before the end of this month.

It was learned the official company announcement might come later today.

The DeSoto has been struggling in the market for the last several years and reports of demise have cropped up frequently. Such reports have been circulating again in Detroit for the past 10 days, and this time the corporation is not denying them.

The 191 DeSoto went on sale Oct. 14 in a standard and deluxe series of only one body style—a two-door hardtop. DeSoto had six models last year.

Chrysler has been building DeSotos at the rate of about 250 a week since mid-August. It was understood total production for the 1961 model run would be about 3,000. The car is built at only one Chrysler plant, in Detroit, and it will work only three days next week and only five days in the remainder of November.

No production schedule has been announced for DeSoto for December.

A DeSoto spokesman said he could deny that future plans call for another type of automobile under the DeSoto nameplate.

Speculation concerning future product plans has included a sports car. Some sources had indicated this might bear the DeSoto nameplate.

DeSoto is marketed by Plymouth dealers who already have a compact car, the Valiant.

close his eyes. It may be only a 10-minute nap but he benefits. Even at dinner (right) a dog can teach you a lesson. He eats just what he needs and no more. If he doesn't feel like eating his evening meal, he'll pass it up entirely. And he doesn't suffer. The only dogs who hurt themselves at the refrigerator with howls of anguish are those who have been taught by their owners that the white box is full of icy goodies. Left to his own devices, the average dog will keep his weight where it belongs. Instinct tells him just how much food he needs each day.

Fluoridated Water Goes Down Drain

NEW YORK (AP)—Fluoridated water went down the drain last week for most communities voting on this controversial dental health issue.

Sponsors of such legislation say that fluoride added to the water supply helps safely to prevent tooth decay, while opponents say the procedure is unsafe, or doubtful in results, represents mass medication, or raise other objections.

An Associated Press survey found 14 communities on Nov. 8 rejected proposals to fluoridate water. The survey did not find any towns voting in favor.

The largest city defeating fluoridation at the polls was Cincinnati, where the measure failed 107,782 to 83,685. It was the second rejection in seven years. Fluoridation also failed of approval across the river in Kenton County, Ky., 17,690 to 10,621.

God, to stop this type from ruining a child's life. Please let us read your answer, we'll be waiting. —Neighbors

Dear Neighbors: Deploable though the situation may seem, you have neither the legal nor moral right to interfere. To paraphrase the title of a book Mary Pickford once wrote, "Why Not Try God?" — why not leave something for God to do?

Dear Helen:

Although I am only 15 myself and probably not considered mature, I have often thought about marriage. It seems to me if you really love someone, you would be willing to live within your means. By this I mean that even if you have to live in a shack down near the tracks in order for your husband to go through college, you would, if you really love him.

Material possessions can last only so long, whereas love is spiritual and eternal. I think you're wonderful and if ever I am in need of extra special advice, I know who to turn to. A Minor health officials reported nearly 44% million persons were drinking fluoridated water in 3,835 communities, compared with about 1 1/2 million in 100 communities 10 years earlier.

Dear "A Minor": Your cheerful letter, and approach to life is refreshing. Thank you!

Fluorides had been added to the water in 1,932 communities serving 37 1/2 million persons, while the rest had naturally fluoridated water.

In the 10 years, 100 communities have dropped fluoridation once it was begun, with 13 later resuming again.

Fluoridation usually has been begun at directive of city health and other officials, without submission to popular vote.

Office Searched for Narcotics

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—Two men ransacked a doctor's office in a search for narcotics and struck a nurse-receptionist Wednesday, police said. Officers quoted Miss Jean Jarrett as saying the men wearing black cloth masks, demanded narcotics and smashed 20 or 30 bottles in a search of the office. Apparently no narcotics were taken but Miss Jarrett reported $15 was taken from her purse and said one of the men hit her.

Women Sue for Voting Booths

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two Little Rock women today sued to require use of voting booths and posting of lists of voters at elections in Pulaski County.

Mrs. Felix Arnold and Mrs. Cecil Bridges said Arkansas statutes call for both. Both requirements generally are disregarded, they said.

Their attorney said the suit had nothing to do with the approaching school election on Dec. 6.

He said he doubted that the Pulaski County election Commission, named as defendant, would have time to file a reply before the school election.

The complaint said that the law calls for posting a list of those who voted outside each polling place as soon as voting ends but that this had not been done.

The suit was filed in Pulaski Chancery Court.

Mrs. Arnold, president of the Little Rock League of Women Voters and Mrs. Bridges a league card member, called attention to what they said was nonobservance of the voting laws in appearances at polling places during the Nov. 8 general election.

There was silence then the hum of a broken telephone connection. Janet returned the receiver to its hook slowly as though returning a knife to its sheath. With Antonio's voice still ringing harshly in her ears, Janet's mind pieced together the things that gave identity to Jason's wife—the round-faced bride in the picture; the brassy aggressive screaming woman she had just spoken to. This was the woman Jason was tied to. Reluctantly Janet faced the rest of it. This was also a woman who loved noise and color, married to a man who valued silence and solitude; a woman whose deepest wish, children of her own, had never been fulfilled; a woman trapped in a relationship she did not even understand, fighting an unknown enemy.

Suddenly Janet began to cry, deep frightening sobs that would not stop but grew worse as the accumulated tensions of the past days engulfed her. At last day-eyed, once more emotionally exhausted, she went upstairs to take a long bath. When she'd gotten out of the tub and put on a cotton housecoat, the unexpected jangle of the telephone alerted her nerves again, and she stepped over to the bedside table to answer it. "Jason. Oh, Jason. I'm so glad you've called. I'll be up in 20 minutes."

It was 11:30. She grabbed a skirt and blouse, put on lipstick and ran down and turned on the front-porch light. It seemed an eternity until she heard his car, and she ran to meet him. He came directly into the living room without greeting.

"I'm sorry, Janet. I was there as soon as I could."

He leaned back in the deep chair stretching his long legs in front of him. "Everything is set for the job out West. It's all arranged. I was waiting to talk to Antonio until she'd gotten settled at home and I'd finished up my own work. She got to me first. She said she'd heard that I was away every night while she was gone."

"Let me fix you a drink, Jason. You look a little tired."

"No, I guess not. I'm sorry to sound so disoriented. It was such a bloody scene. I'm not very good at scenes. I wanted to discuss it sensibly and tell her about moving away to a new job and then—"

"And lead up to you. Suddenly everything got out of hand." He looked bewildered at the remembrance. "She accused me of seeing another woman, and I admitted it. That was a mistake. Any sense she might have had about things vanished at the idea of my having an interest in someone else. We lost the main point at once—that we don't belong together. She admitted she doesn't love me. She knows I've never really loved her. She realizes neither one of us gains anything but misery from our alliance. If she doesn't want to be alone. That's what it amounts to. You see, now that she knows about you, she can blame the whole thing on you and forget the complaints she's had for years about our modus vivendi."

"Oh, Jason, I'm so sorry."

"I finally couldn't take it any more and walked out. I wanted to see you anyway and was planning to drive up here tonight. I'm terribly sorry you were subjected to that telephone conversation. I don't think I've handled this very well. Nothing's wrong here, is it? The boys are all right? And you?"

"We're fine. Just—oh, little things have gone wrong. It's so good to have you here." Any idea she had entertained of telling Jason about the arrow on the night before was dismissed.

"It's good to be here," he rose, walked over to her and put his arm around her and kissed her gently.

"She reached for his hand; then she was in his arms. The pent-up emotions of months overwhelmed them."

Judge Calls Case a Bad Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a jury voted life imprisonment for sex murderer Raymond Clemmons, the court told seven women on the panel: "I can only hope that he will not meet any of you ladies some night in a dark place."

Several of the women left the jury box Wednesday weeping. Superior Court Judge William E. Fox termed it "an extremely bad verdict."

He said 12 years was the average time served by life-termers. The jury foreman said the panel wasn't convinced the slaying was deliberate. Clemmons admitted abducting coed Nina T. Thoren, 19, daughter of screen writer Robert T. Thoren, from a street near Los Angeles City College last July 12. She was strangled with her Capri pants.

TRIAL BY SLANDER

THE STORY: Janet Hamilton, a young widow, met Jason Whiting while she was taking a night college course. Jason was her instructor. Not until they had fallen in love did Jason tell her that he was married. Unhappily married, he insists, and he wishes to marry Janet as soon as he can obtain a divorce. At time has passed and the divorce proceedings have not started. Then there was a mysterious attempt on Janet's life. The neighbors suspect Janet has a "gentleman friend" and are talking.

CHAPTER XVII

Janet checked the doors, remembering the arrow incident and the ghastly party tonight and Frank Lyman and his nastiness. She felt grubby inside and out. Maybe she could call Jason. It was indiscreet, but she decided to risk it.

A woman answered. "Who's this?"

"This is one of Dr. Whiting's students," Janet was frightened and wished she hadn't called. "I'd like to talk to him."

"At 11 o'clock at night?"

"I'm sorry to bother you. I didn't realize it was so late. I'll call him at school tomorrow."

"What's your name?"

"Would you tell Dr. Whiting that Mrs. Hamilton called?"

"The reply came in a rasping suspicious voice. 'Oh... listen, here, Mrs. Hamilton. I'm not so dumb as you might think. You just lay off, Jay.'"

"I beg your pardon?" Janet said incredulously.

"Oh, I know Jay's got a girl friend, and you lay off him, you hear? No rich widow is going to put me out on a limb. Leave him alone."

"I've no idea what you're talking about."

In reply Antonio's voice became a scream. "Do you hear me? You leave him alone or I'll kill you!"

There was silence then the hum of a broken telephone connection. Janet returned the receiver to its hook slowly as though returning a knife to its sheath. With Antonio's voice still ringing harshly in her ears, Janet's mind pieced together the things that gave identity to Jason's wife—the round-faced bride in the picture; the brassy aggressive screaming woman she had just spoken to. "No, I guess not. I'm sorry to sound so disoriented. It was such a bloody scene. I'm not very good at scenes. I wanted to discuss it sensibly and tell her about moving away to a new job and then—"

"And lead up to you. Suddenly everything got out of hand." He looked bewildered at the remembrance. "She accused me of seeing another woman, and I admitted it. That was a mistake. Any sense she might have had about things vanished at the idea of my having an interest in someone else. We lost the main point at once—that we don't belong together. She admitted she doesn't love me. She knows I've never really loved her. She realizes neither one of us gains anything but misery from our alliance. If she doesn't want to be alone. That's what it amounts to. You see, now that she knows about you, she can blame the whole thing on you and forget the complaints she's had for years about our modus vivendi."

"Oh, Jason, I'm so sorry."

"I finally couldn't take it any more and walked out. I wanted to see you anyway and was planning to drive up here tonight. I'm terribly sorry you were subjected to that telephone conversation. I don't think I've handled this very well. Nothing's wrong here, is it? The boys are all right? And you?"

"We're fine. Just—oh, little things have gone wrong. It's so good to have you here." Any idea she had entertained of telling Jason about the arrow on the night before was dismissed.

"It's good to be here," he rose, walked over to her and put his arm around her and kissed her gently.

"She reached for his hand; then she was in his arms. The pent-up emotions of months overwhelmed them."

Judge Calls Case a Bad Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a jury voted life imprisonment for sex murderer Raymond Clemmons, the court told seven women on the panel: "I can only hope that he will not meet any of you ladies some night in a dark place."

Several of the women left the jury box Wednesday weeping. Superior Court Judge William E. Fox termed it "an extremely bad verdict."

He said 12 years was the average time served by life-termers. The jury foreman said the panel wasn't convinced the slaying was deliberate. Clemmons admitted abducting coed Nina T. Thoren, 19, daughter of screen writer Robert T. Thoren, from a street near Los Angeles City College last July 12. She was strangled with her Capri pants.

Hope Manages 6 to 6 Tie With Badgers

By Vince Foster
Hope Star Sports Writer

Two fumbles and an intercepted pass enabled the Arkadelphia Badgers to hold the Hope Bobcats to a 6-6 tie here last night. All night the breaks seemed to be against the Bobcats as most of their mistakes came at very unopportune times. This tie gave the Bobcats a record of 2 wins, 6 losses and 2 ties with one game to go in the season.

Hope won the toss, took the opening kickoff, and moved to the Arkadelphia 41 in three plays. There FB Ford Ward scampered 40 yards to the Badger one yard line. On the next play HB Joe Duke plunged over for the only Bobcat score. The all-important place kick for the extra point was blocked by a swarm of rushing Arkadelphia linemen.

After taking the kickoff of the second half, Arkadelphia moved to the Bobcat 28 in 8 plays. Here Estes threw a long pass to HB Sonny Winters waiting in the end zone. Arkadelphia's attempted pass for the extra point was incomplete and the score then and at the end of the game was Hope 6, Arkadelphia 0.

In the third quarter Hope drove to the Arkadelphia 9, following a well executed fake punt run of 15 yards by Duke. Here, though, Estes intercepted a Lloyd aerial to stop that drive. Later Hope took a Badger punt, but on the next play fumbled and Badger Jimmy Thomas covered for them on their 31.

Later Hope QB Tony McLarty intercepted a Arkadelphia pass and ran it back 35 yards but this play was called back to the Hope 37 on a clipping penalty.

Ford Ward led the Bobcats with 55 yards rushing and he was followed by Duke, Arnett, Herndon and Lloyd with 47, 34, 30, and 13 yards respectively. Sophomores teamed together with Gilliam and Porterfield, Yocum, and Beggs Crain to slow those Badgers down on defense.

Winters and Stokers led the Plays from scrimmage 41 62

Badger rushers with 60 and 52 yards, and Heard and Guthrie led the Badger line.

Playing in their last home game were these seniors: Phillip Gilliam, Larry Arnett, Joe Duke, Joe Matt Herndon, Junior McNatt, Curtis Churchill, Jimmy Lloyd, David Moore, Billy Walter, Kenneth Padden, and Tommy Jones.

Joe Duke received his seventh steak and Phillip Gilliam received his ninth out of a possible ten for making the most tackles. Gilliam especially earned his as he was kicked in the mouth and with his loose front teeth he had a hard time enjoying his steak.

Be Ye Thankful

The human is at his best when he prays . . . when he reaches up to the Divine. That's when time becomes part of eternity. As when the pilgrims were struggling to make a go of it and even more so, we need to pause, take stock and thank God. Gratitude is a high virtue. Our cause to praise God is great. Our fathers bequeathed us rich land, good example and sustaining ideals. We must not inherit one without the other. The generous harvest of every year is ours and His. And His is the larger part for God has always been at work. What have we done to merit such blessing? We should join the call to worship this Thanksgiving Day, in the church of our choice. . . Consider why we should prosper as no other people on earth, fall on our knees and speak loud our thanks to the God of all. Your own soul will be aglow and your Thanksgiving dinner will have more taste if you will first remember Him, and if you will feed and clothe some other person, in His Name. This stimulating fellowship with God and our fellows could make this our greatest Thanksgiving Day. Then, "Come, ye Thankful people, come, and raise the song of Thanksgiving."
